5. WORK PLANS AND SCIENTIFIC SUPERVISION OF THE STUDENTSHIPS

Research activities include the elaboration of work leading to the doctoral dissertation in Public Health in one of the specific areas of interest identified by the applicant from among those available at the Research Unit (EPIUnit).

6. EVALUATION CRITERIA

6.1 Evaluation Criteria

The assessment takes into account the applicant's merit, and the adequacy of the applicant's training and motivation for the research objectives of EPIUnit.

The evaluation process will have two mandatory distinctive and successive steps, according to the following evaluation criteria:

- The first stage (E1) (scored from 0 to 20 values and presented in tenths) will focus on a Curricular Evaluation (CE) and Motivation (M) for the accomplishment of this PhD. The Curricular Evaluation and Motivation will each have a weight of 50% and 50%, respectively, in the final classification of the first stage of the call, which is expressed by the following formula:

$$E1 = (0.5 \times CE) + (0.5 \times M)$$

The Curricular Evaluation (CE) - scored from 0 to 20 values and presented in tenths - has a weight of 60% in the final classification of the first stage of the call and will focus on:

- Sub-criterion CE1 - Quality of the academic degree (classification of academic degrees), weighting 60%;
- Sub-criterion CE2 - Scientific production and participation in research projects, weighting 20%;
- Sub-criterion CE3 - Professional experience, weighting 20%.

The score for the sub-criterion CE1 is calculated based on the final classifications contained in the academic degrees presented by the candidate in the application form: i) simple arithmetic average of the Degree + Master's degree or classification of the Integrated Master's degree; ii) classification of the Degree only; or iii) Master's classification only. In case of no valid degree certificates are submitted, the classification to be attributed to sub-criterion CE1 will be zero (CE1 = 0).

For the purpose of calculating sub-criterion CE1, the certificates specifying only a qualitative classification (for example, pre-Bologna master's degrees), it will be converted in the terms expressed in the following table:

Qualitative Classification	Correspondent quantitative Classification
Excellent, Very good with distinction, Distinction and Cum Laude, Magna Cum Laude / Summa Cum Laude	18
Very good, approved with distinction, good with distinction, Cum Laude	16
Good / Approved by unanimity	14
Sufficient	12

Motivation (M) for the accomplishment of the PhD and justification for interest in research of a specific topic with relevance in Public Health, among those developed in the various scientific areas/research lines of the Research Unit (EPIUnit), expressed in the "Motivation Letter" - scored from 0 to 20 values and presented in tenths - has a weight of 50% in the final classification of the first stage of the call.

The first 10 applicants with the highest final classification in the first stage of the call (E1) and a final classification equal to or greater than 10 points in the first stage of the call (E1), in descending order, will be admitted to the second stage of the call (E2) - "Admitted to the Interview". In the event of a tie in the attribution of the final classification in the first stage of the call (E1) of the last applicant admitted to the interview, all applicants with the same final classification in the first stage of the call (E1) as the last applicant admitted to the interview will be admitted to the second stage of the call - "Admitted to the Interview".

All applicants with a score less than 10 in the first stage of the call (E1) will be excluded from the call - "Excluded".

The second stage (E2) (scored from 0 to 20 values and presented in tenths) consists of an Individual Interview (II) of the applicant and has a weight of 100% in the final classification of the second stage of the call.

The final classification of the second stage of the call (E2) is the final classification of the Individual Interview (II) that aims to evaluate the potential scientific production of each applicant in the area of the call, which will result from the arithmetic average of the scores of all of the evaluated criteria in the Individual Interview (II) by the members present in the Jury: E2 = Final Classification II.

The Individual Interview (II) will focus on the following criteria: motivation and availability, knowledge and professional attitude; interpersonal skills, and communication skills (including knowledge of English). Each of these Individual Interview criteria will be evaluated (from 0 to 20 points), by the members of the Jury present in the Individual Interview (at least 3 elements of the jury will be present in each II).

Applicants with a final E2 (II) score of less than 16 will be automatically excluded - "Excluded". For tie-breaking purposes in the final classification of E2 (II), applicants will be ranked based on the ratings assigned to each of the evaluation criteria in the following order of precedence: (i) motivation and availability, (ii) knowledge and attitude professional, (iii) communication skills, and (iv) interpersonal relationships.

For the deciding purposes of awarding studentships, applicants will be ranked according to the weighted average of the classification obtained in each of the two criteria, expressed by the following formula:

$$\text{Final Classification} = (0.5 \times E1) + (0.5 \times E2)$$

For tie-breaking purposes, the ranking of candidates will be based on the ratings assigned to each of the evaluation criteria in the following order of precedence: E1 – Curriculum vitae + Motivation letter; E2 – Individual Interview.

Important notice for applicants with degrees issued by foreign higher education institutions:

- Applicants with degrees issued by foreign higher education institutions can apply and will be assessed using the same criteria as applicants with diplomas issued by Portuguese institutions, provided they present, in their application, proof of recognition of academic degrees or request for automatic grade recognition and the conversion of the final grade to the Portuguese classification scale under the terms of the applicable legislation.
- Applicants with foreign degrees who do not show proof of conversion of the final grade to the Portuguese classification scale will be awarded the minimum classification (10 points) for sub-criterion A1.
- In any case, studentship contracts with applicants with degrees issued by foreign institutions will only be concluded upon presentation of proof of recognition of academic degrees and conversion of the final grade, as indicated above.

Applicants whose application is evaluated with a final classification below (10) points are not eligible for the studentship.
